RICHMOND — A RICHMOND PAPER FOR RICHMOND PEOPLE

TODAY'S ODDITY

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—UP—John Hart grew tired of listening to his neighbors' radios so he hooked up a couple of Ford coils with a condenser and attached the contrivance to his house alternating current socket. The result produced such an efficient "interference machine" that radios for a block around were unable to get anything except static, and their owners summoned police.

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

Wonder what a bus driver does on his day off? No wise cracks about taking his family for a long drive, please.

* * * * *

Yes, the Scotch story season seems to be open again. The last one we heard was the other night.

* * * * *

Seems that a Scot invited a friend to a chicken dinner . . . if you've heard this one stop me . . . and when the friend got there they had nothing but hamburger. When the friend asked where the chicken was, the Scot replied that it had got better.

* * * * *

Keep right at it . . . as long as they keep throwing those stories at us, we'll keep slinging 'em back at the gentle public.

* * * * *

These pee-wee golf courses are getting under one's feet every time one goes down the street.

* * * * *

Every vacant lot in the city, so it seems, is putting up one of these courses.

* * * * *

We noticed in Oakland the other day that a private home has turned its huge lawn into a golf course.

* * * * *

If this keeps up, our children are going to cut their teeth on putters and will walk "all humped over."

* * * * *

Now here is an opportunity for some of our Edisons.

* * * * *

Why not invent home furnishings that can be folded up into a packet no larger than a deck of cards?

* * * * *

Just think of the trouble you would save on moving day.

* * * * *

If that isn't an idea for some of you inventors to work on, why we don't know what we're talking about.

* * * * *

These slow news days are enough to make any newspaperman have the Willies. In fact it's getting so bad that some of the afternoon sheets are putting streamers on stories that they carried the previous day buried in the class ad page.

* * * * *

There should be a law.

* * * * *

These new midget cars that have made their appearance in Richmond have attracted a lot of attention.

* * * * *

And they have also drawn a lot of good, bad and rotten jokes from columnists.

* * * * *

Ted Cook remarked the other day that this new car is a handy auxiliary machine. In fact, quoting Mr. Cook, one may carry two or three of them in the tool box to be used in case of an emergency.

* * * * *

Babson declared the other day that American business is recovering and will soon be on the incline again.

* * * * *

The trouble with American business today is that the consumer is not buying as much as he did during the prosperous days.

* * * * *

As a result sales fell off, the left-over stock is still in the merchant's hands and he isn't buying anything.

* * * * *

This resulted in factories closing.

But as a famous British soldier recently said, when he visited in San Francisco, America during its depression appears like a busy country compared to England and other European countries.

Gas Puts Out Fire

PUTTING OUT fire with gas, a new method, was introduced to New York volunteer firemen at Nyack, N. Y. A large hole was dug in the ground and gasoline was poured in and ignited. Within three seconds the gas had extinguished the fire.

SEWER PIPE WILL BE LAID

Work on three major developments in Richmond is progressing rapidly, according to a report made yesterday.

One project is the dredging of the Ellis slough channel and the turning basin which is one of the most important developments undertaken in the city for years.

E. A. Hoffman, city engineer, who is serving as engineer for the project, stated yesterday that the work on this development is being done in rapid style.

Channel Dredged

A channel is being dredged to a depth of 33 feet and a huge turning basin is to be made.

The dredging of a new yacht harbor near Cutting boulevard will also be done at the completion of the training basin. This harbor will fill a long needed want in this city. Work on this will start in about eight months, it was said.

The mud removed by the huge dredger now at work is being used to fill in valuable industrial lands. The section along Richmond avenue is now being filled in.

Sewer Work

The San Francisco Bridge company is doing the dredging.

Pipes for the new sanitary sewer in the industrial district will be laid today, Hoffman stated. A crane arrived yesterday on the grounds.

Forty-two inch concrete pipes will be laid in the Ford factory district, 39 inch pipe on Dock street and 18-inch vitrified clay pipe will be laid on Hall and Fourteenth streets.

The work is being done by the Jasper Stacey company. The system will serve the industrial district, and is the first part of a new system that is being planned.

Ford Work

Work on the Ford factory on the inner harbor site is progressing as rapidly as possible, the Ford engineers stated yesterday.

Piles are being driven and within a few days the steel for the plant will arrive.

All in all, Richmond's water front lands are the scene of active industry and building.

Paris Idol

DJEMIL ANIK, the famous Hindu and Arabian dancer, who is considered one of the most beautiful women in Parisian theatrical circles.

PAIR WILL FLY OVER CITY

Dieudonne Coste and Lieut. Maurice Bellonte, the famous French aviators will visit the bay region on Sept. 26 according to United Press dispatches received here last night.

According to the two Frenchmen's schedule, they will pass over the city of Richmond in their plane, the Question Mark, on Sept. 26.

The fliers will hop off from Portland early in the morning of Sept. 26. They will first pass over Eugene ,and will then come to Sacramento where they will circle the capital.

If they follow the route of air mail pilots they will fly over Richmond enroute to Oakland and San Francisco.

On Sept. 27 the two men will hop off from San Francisco to Los Angeles.

Coste and Bellonte landed in New York recently after they had concluded the first successful nonstop flight from Paris to New York.

They are planning to make a good will flight of the United States.

However their time is limited and they will not be able to follow the route set by Col. Lindbergh on his American tour.

GAS BOOST UP TO S. O.

Whether or not the prices of gasoline will be increased is entirely up to the Standard Oil company of California, it was learned yesterday.

Oil operators in the state yesterday awaited the answer to a letter sent to the Standard Oil by Herbert R. MacMillan president of the California Oil and Gas association.

The letter was sent to K. R. Kingsbury, president of the Standard and then to Ray L. Wilbur, secretary of the interior ,suggesting an increase in retail rates .

No reply had been received from Kingsbury up to a late hour last night.

The attitude of the major and independent oil companies seems to be: "The letter was addressed to the Standard Oil. It's up to them to reply."

Regardless of its economic power, the Standard Oil holds a unique position in reference to gasoline price setting, it was said. This is said to be due to the fact that a majority of contracts for crude oil and gas executed by the smaller independent producers requires royalties shall be paid on the Standard Oil company's posted prices.

It was explained that the Standard Oil originally was the only major company operating in the state, and the only one that bought crude oil.

Driver Fails To Convince Court; Fined

When Otto Fergenstrom, 1010 Garasen street, Berkeley, appeared before Police Judge C. A. Odell yesterday on a charge of reckless driving, he had his "alibi," according to court records.

When he faced the judge, Fergenstrom carefully explained that he was driving down Cutting boulevard when the front wheels of his car started to "shimmy." Because of this, he said, a policeman arrested him.

However, the arresting officer told the court that Fergenstrom's front wheels refused to "shimmy" when another officer drove the car.

As a result, the Berkelly man was fined $200. Two companions were fined $10 each on charges of being drunk.

MAN SLAYS WIFE, SELF

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—UP—Neighbors who became apprehensive over the sound of shots called police to discover a double tragedy here today.

Officers found the bodies of R. S. Castle, 30, and his wife, 28, in a small apartment where they resided.

The theory that Castle shot his wife and then committed suicide.

There were no notes to offer a motive for the murder and apparent suicide but a bottle of liquor on a table of the apartment caused the belief that the shooting had followed a quarrel.

Boy Sticks To Death Story

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11.—UP—Hours of questioning at juvenile hall today failed to shake the story of Roy Kent, 13, that Bruno De Maria, 13, was accidentally shot to death while the boys were playing with an automatic pistol belonging to young Kent's father.

Bruno, an honor student in a Los Angeles high school, was found dead in a vacant lot next to the Kent home last night.

Roy said the weapon was discharged as he held it while Bruno examined it. He said Bruno walked into the yard and fell.

"I went out and took off his badge as captain of the school safety league," he told officers. "I intended to give it to the principal today. I didn't tell anyone because I didn't know Bruno was dead and because my father had warned us not to play with his guns."

The final baseball report was also received, showing a good season, and Fred Sletten and W. H. Outman were appointed to assist Dan Bradley in managing the Legion football team.

Bradley was authorized last night to purchase new equipment for the team, which he will do as soon as he determines just what is needed.

Rain Threatens Prunes, Raisins

Dispatches yesterday revealed that early rainfall in various sections of northern and central California has threatened drying prune and raisin crops and caused a flurry of alarm among growers.

HIGH GRIDDERS WILL PLAY TODAY

The Richmond Union High school pigskin squad will see action in its third contest of the 1930 season this afternoon when it tangles with the invading gridders of McClymonds High school on the Richmond High school field.

With not a single point yet scored against them and with a record still unbroken by defeat, the Richmond varsity will go into battle today favorites over the McClymonds eleven.

However, McClymonds High school is reported to have a powerful offense that is always dangerous. It has met two of the most powerful squads of the eastbay this season, Lowell and St. Mary's, and, although losing both contests, showed a versatility of attack that will probably keep the Richmond athletes exceedingly busy this afternoon.

Today's game bears added significance because of the long rivalry between these two teams. Richmond and McClymonds each boast two victories gained during five years of competition. One contest between these two schools resulted in a tie. Last year's game was won by McClymonds by a score of seven to six.

The local aggregation has been working continually during the past week, and several of its weak points have been repaired in preparation for today's trial.

The starting lineup will probably include: Juillerat and Drexel, ends; Westman and Bali, tackles; Baxter and Hoeffer, guards; Hall, center; Masek and Scarsella, halfbacks; Baskett, fullback; and Stoddard, quarterback.

Other prominent varsity men who are expected to see action today are: Brock, Rosano, Snodgrass, G. Miller, backfield; Passone, Gerletti, Bravin, and Boschetti, ends; R. Drexel, Lilly, Corazza, Avila, Roback, Klobas, line.

BILL TILDEN IN BATTLES WITH NET MEN

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 11—UP—Big Bill Tilden advanced to the semi-finals of the men's national singles tennis championship today but before he got there he very nearly left the tournament by the default route.

As it was the committee gave him more courtesy than it would show to the common tennis player. For more than an hour he held up the works before officia'dom became sufficiently hard-boiled to make him play or default his quarter-final match to John W. Van Ryn of East Orange, N. J.

Tilden and Van Ryn were supposed to play at 2:30 p. m., an hour after the encounter between Francis T. Hunter, New Rochelle, N. Y., and Johnny Doeg of Santa Monica, Calif., got under way.

The first set was a new form of endurance contest that finally went to Hunter, 13 to 11. During the playing of it Tilden was seen indulging in coaching his friend Hunter. An official called him off gently and the champion didn't like it.

Then Tilden sponsored the proposition that he and Van Ryn wait until the other match was completed. In this way, he argued, his friend would be enabled to concentrate better than if annoyed by the cheers of spectators applauding a point scored in the nearby court.

Tilden is champion; he is a colorful player; he probably will be in the finals Saturday and he is a good drawing card. So the committee let him get away with it to the disappointment of some 8500 fans, the largest crowd of the week. Meanwhile Hunter and Doeg kept battling gamely and anyone could see it would go five sets.

At last the officials acutely fed up, ordered Tilden to go change into his tennis whites and reappear within 20 minutes. Big Bill grumbled, but he did it, and he and Van Ryn started play during the fifth set of the other match, which was incidentally won by Doeg, 11-13, 6-4, 3-6, 6-2, 6-4.

Apparently still flustered by the incident, Tilden lost the opening set, the first he has dropped during the tournament. But he came back to sweep the match, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4. He will meet Doeg tomorrow.

C. SAMPLES TO COACH LEGION GRID SQUAD

With the final selection last night of Claude Samples as coach of the Richmond Post of the American Legion football team, the squad is getting down to hard work in preparation for a game the latter part of this month.

The selection of Samples as coach culminated a search of several weeks by members of the team for someone to take over the reins and whip the boys into shape.

Samples, at present connected with the Longfellow junior high school faculty, is well known by old timers in local football circles, having been a member of Richmond high school's "wonder team" of 1922.

That year's squad, boasting such players as Cal Pitchford and Johnny Gonzales, swept through the season with only one defeat, leaving a record as yet unequalled by any succeeding teams.

Samples immediately started the team working out formation plays, declaring that constant and continuous practice would be held thruout the season.

At present there are only about 17 players showing up regularly and Samples echoed Dan Bradley's cry for more gridmen. It is his intention, he announced last night, to carry at least two full teams through the season, to insure against injuries and sickness.

The next practice will be held Sunday morning at 9:30 sharp, and although the new coach did not elucidate as to his intentions for this practice, it is probable new plays will be worked out and a light scrimmage held.

Suits have been passed out, and Bradley, who is managing the team has declared that members who fail to be present at practice regularly will be asked to turn their equipment over to fellows who are working hard for a berth on the squad.

"This of course does not mean that fellows who are working late hours will be forced to turn their suits over to other players," Bradley said. "It is for the fellows that have ample time to practice and refuse to come out."

CARDS, ROBINS WIN CONTEST IN NATIONAL

By UNITED PRESS

National League:

First division congestion in the National league became more acute Thursday when the St. Louis Cards and the Brooklyn Robins defeated the New York Giants and the Chicago Cubs respectively. The Cards and Robins are now but one-half game behind the leading Cubs.

Dazzy Vance pitched one of the most sparkling games of his career to give the Robins a 2 to 1 win over the Cubs. The Dazzler struck out 13, yielded but five hits, and twice struck out Hack Wilson. Wilson, however, saved the Cubs from a third successive shutout by hitting his 48th home run of the season in the seventh inning. Glenn Wright hit a homer with one on in the first inning to account for Brooklyn's runs.

Chick Hafey's first inning home run with two men on gave the Cardinals a lead the Giants could not overcome although the New Yorkers twice tied the score at 3-3 and 4-4. The Cards scored the winning run in the eighth on a walk, a single, and an infield out.

The Phillies made it three in a row over the Cincinnati Reds, winning 15 to 7. The winners gathered 18 hits.

Pittsburgh took a 5 to 2 decision from the Boston Braves. Brame allowed the Braves but eight hits while his mates touched Sherdel and Cunningham for eleven.

American League:

Ted Lyons hung up his 21st victory of the season as the Chicago White Sox defeated the Boston Red Sox 4 to 3 after 12 innings. Barnes singled scoring Watwood with the winning run.

What little hope the second place Washington Senators had of overtaking the leading Philadelphia Athletics was all but extinguished when the Senators were defeated 7 to 4 by the St. Louis Browns. The Browns did most of their damage in the sixth inning when they scored four runs.

In the only other American league game the Cleveland Indians defeated the New York Yankees 9 to 5. Ruffing, who started for the Yanuks, was no puzzle to the Indians. Two walks, three singles, and a fumble by Ruth gave the Indians four runs in the first inning.

Bressler Out With Fracture

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—UP—Rube Bressler, veteran outfielder of the Brooklyn Robins, will be out for the rest of the season with a broken finger, it was learned today.

A line drive from Hack Wilson's bat in Wednesday's game with the Chicago Cubs broke the middle finger of Bressler's throwing hand in two places.

ARMOUR WINS IN P. G. A. MATCHES

FLUSHING, N. Y., Sept. 11.—UP—A recalcitrant putter cost Johnny Farrell, former national open champion his chance in the P. G. A. tournament here today, the Mamaroneck, N. Y., pro losing to Tommy Armgur, nervy Detroiter. The score was 2 and 1.

Farrell in the morning 18 of their third round 36-hole contest, led Armour by four holes after six had been played. Armour then settled down and won or halved every hole from the 6th through the 18th. Some of Armour's victories were obtained when Farrell missed short putts. Johnny failed to sink three four-footers.

Two down when the afternoon round began, Farrell squared the match on the short 14th when Armour required two shots to

ODD FELLOWS TO PLAY 2 GAMES

Sunday will be a day of battle for the Richmond Odd Fellows.

The linkers will go into action against the Native Sons Sunday morning at 10 o'clock on the First street lot.

In the afternoon, the lodgemen will tangle with the Fern Candy company outfit at 2:30 o'clock on the San Pablo lot.

With a long record of sensational victories behind them, the local Odd Fellows are expected to be able to handle themselves successfully in Sunday's contests.

The lodgemen registered a 16 to 2 victory over the Native Sons several weeks ago in the battle for the title of the Richmond City Twilight baseball league. Although they had barely conquered the Native Sons in preceeding contests the Odd Fellows smashed through in a blaze of hitting power in the final game that completely bewildered the Native Sons. The lodgemen then proceeded to shut out the Corey Gagemen on the same day by a score of 13 to 0. In that week-end competition the Odd Fellows displayed both surprising stamina and baseball knowledge.

The Native Sons hold the opinion that their disastrous defeat by the Odd Fellows was merely an "off day" occurence and that they will be able to come back stronger than ever in Sunday's clash.

The Fern Candy company nine of Oakland has been doing well in eastbay competition this season, and should give the local linkers plenty of work to do on the San Pablo lot Sunday afternoon.

National Flag Race Becomes More Tense

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—UP—The Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn bins batt'ed to within a half ne of the National league lead ay as the Chicago Cubs conued their dizzy decline.

Dazzy Vance pitched the Robins their third straight victory over Cubs, 2 to 1, before 25,000 fans Ebbets Field, while the Cardinfought off the New York Giants score a 5 to 4 victory before a ilar crowd at the Polo grounds. he three leaders—Chicago, St. is and Brooklyn—are now virlly tied for the lead, the scant ferences in the percentages becaused by the difference in the nber of games played.

McLarnin In Victory Over Al Singer

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, Sept. 11.—UP—Jimmy McLarnin, the fighting Irishman from Vancouver knocked out Al Singer of the Bronx, the present lightweight champion after two minutes, 21 seconds of fighting in the third round tonight before 40,000 cheering spectators in Yankee stadium.

The bout, which had caused so much uncertainty and debate among boxing experts, ended suddenly when McLarnin whipped over a left to the jaw which sent Singer to the canvas for the count of nine toward the end of the third round.

The Bronx boy, flat on his stomach, rolled back and forth in apparent agony, and Jimmy turned a hand spring when it seemed the count was over. But Singer, glassy eyed, staggered to his feet and the bout went on.

It was only for a moment however, for the lightweight champion was groggy and McLarnin had only to whip home a light left hook to the jaw to put Singer away for the final count.

For the first two rounds, it was a spirited affair, with Singer holding his own against his heavier opponent. The Vancouver boy weighed 140 pounds to 135 1-2 for the lightweight champion.

Against this light handicap in weight Singer, who was reported to have taken this bout "because I can lick that Irishman," carried the fight to McLarnin, with a dash and spirit such as he displayed in winning the title from Sammy Mandell.

The first round was fairly even, and while Singer never erased a confident Irish smile from Jimmy's lips, he did drive home right crosses to the westerner's jaw which kept McLarnin from attacking. In the second session, however, McLarnin carried the fight to the lightweight champion and easily earned the honors.

Phil Carlin, present holder of number one standing in the ladder tourney, has been challenged to a match for the title by Irwin Sutton.

CHATTERTON FILM MAKES HIT

Ruth Chatterton, as a musical comedy actress who by betrothal is adopted into a family of British aristocrats, romps through a series of whimsically comic scenes educating the peerage in cocktails and jazz and then suddenly springs a surprise in the most gripping of dramatic denouements.

This is the actress' achievement in "The Lady of Scandal," Metro-Goldwyn Mayer's filmibation of Frederick Lonsdale's celebrated stage play, "The High Road," which is now showing at the Fox-California theater.

Directed by Sidney Franklin, who filmed "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney" by the same author, it is a collection of rapier-like wit in dialogue, whimsically clever lines and situations which suddenly precipitate a tremendous dramatic situation as the heroine sacrifices her lover to the woman whose need of him is greater than hers.

Basil Rathbone, delineator of sophisticates, appears in the leading male role opposite Miss Chatterton, and Ralph Forbes plays the lover. Both leave nothing to be desired in the handling of two difficult roles. Fred Kerr and Mac-Kenzie Ward repeat their successes in the original London stage play, in which they created the roles of Lord Trench and Ernest. Nance O'Neil is a stately Lady Trench and injects much biting sarcasm into her role. Cyril Chadwick, Robert Bolder, Moon Carroll, Effie Ellsler, Edgar Norton and Herbert Bunston have adequate roles. A spectacular detail is the modernistic theater setting which opens the picture with Miss Chatterton in a song and dance specialty by Jack King and Elsie Janis.

NEW CURE FOR LEPROSY IS FOUND

HONOLULU, T. H., Sept. 11.—UP—A new medical compound from Chaulmoogra oil for the treatment of leprosy has been produced by the chemical departmdat of the University of Hawaii with cooperation from the territorial board of health, it was announced here today.

The compound is still in the experimental stage and has been tried on dogs, revealing that it is nontoxin upon injection.

Announcement of the discovery was made in the report of D. L. Crawford, president of the university, to Governor Lawrence Judd. Dr. Richard Wrenshall, professor of chemistry, has been in charge of the experiments.

Scientist here make no claims for the new formula but they are hopeful because it is soluable in water and watery fluids of the body Heretofore Chaulmoogra oil derivities have been oily or soapy compounds, with insoluable or destructive to tissues.

Local Vet To Face Court

Harvey Green, negro, war veteran of north Richmond is involved in a confusion of legal technicalities, chief of which is whether he is blind or not.

Green has collected $14,338 from the government in disability which he asserts resulted in blindness from war service, and recently the payments were stopped.

When Green brought suit recently to have the payments resumed he was the recipient of a very unpleasant surprise in the form of the government refusing to resume payments, and a counter suit filed by the government charging Green was at worst only subject to hysterical blindness.

In contention of its point the government declares Green has shingled his house and drives his own automobile, and wants to know whether or not a blind man is capable of these acts.

The suit is now being fought in Judge Loudeback's court in San Francisco, the government seeking recovery of the money already paid him, and Green seeking still more.

Elks Prepare For Big Show

About 40 members of the Richmond Elks lodge were present last night at the first tryouts for the cast of the Elks charity show to be presented at the Richmond Union High school auditorium Dec. 5 and 6.

It was announced last night that with the exception of about 12 girls for a chorus, the cast will be made up entirely of local Elks, 10 having major parts and about 30 in the male chorus.

The show will take the form of a musical comedy and is directed by Earl Caldwell of San Francisco, who has directed the other Elks' presentations.

Rehearsals will be held every Thursday night and players for the principal parts will be selected in the near future.

Trap Shoot To Be Held On Sunday

The second Sunday morning trap shoot will be held at the upper Skow ranch this Sunday.

Last Sunday's shoot proved a fine success, and several high scores were hung up in this first meet of the season.

On Sept. 28, the local gunners will compete in a meet at the Skow ranch for a cup offered by Arthur A. Alstrom. The meet will be a strictly amateur affair.

SAVANT FINDS FARMING ON NEW BASIS

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 11.—America is entering an era of business farming, Dr. H. E. Van Norman, director of the Borden Research Foundation, told a meeting of the St. Louis Agricultural club here this noon.

"We are going through a period in which the farmer, the government and others wishing to help agriculture have been trying through cooperative efforts to sell at a satisfactory price the products of American farms, and into one in which farming recognizes that the business principles which have made possible our urban prosperity are also the key to a more prosperous agriculture," Dr. Van Norman said.

"While its is possible in a limited number of cases for the seller to arbitrarily set the price of his commodities, the great substantial urban businesses have been built up by offering a product at a price the public will pay and which will induce a large volume of sales. To only a limited extent has the farming industry given constructive recognition to the fact that selling price, less cost, times volume is the road to wealth.

"If the 'spread' between selling price and cost is to be increased, the biggest opportunity is in the reduction of cost. It is amazing how much can be accomplished in this direction when necessity forces attention to it. In the dairy business, roughly speaking, the cow producing 200 pounds of butterfat may yield a net profit up to seven or eight dollars, whereas the cow producing 400 pounds may yield a net profit of $75.

There is every reason to believe, Dr. Van Norman stated, that agriculture can benefit by the four forces which makes urban industry the envy of agriculture, namely accurate cost accounting, volume of business, group effort and leadership by qualified individuals. He holds that corporate farming by skilled management with wage-earning labor is neither economically nor sociologically a satisfactory answer to today's needs of agriculture.

"Centralized planning and leadership, individual leadership in farm operaeion and decentralized land and home ownership, to my mind, is the ideal solution. Individual land ownership or tenancy with group effort and operation and leadership by men of superior farming and business ability will be but the logical emulation of business evolution in the city.

"Thousands of cow owners today are milking from 6 to 20 cows to produce a net profit which one cow, reasonably well managed, can produce, even at present prices of feed and dairy products. The difference in profits is due to management. Someone who knows how must guide and help the owners who cannot do this by themselves."

Mitzi Green In Film At Fox-California

Imitations have won Mitzi Green a place in the sun and yet there is no other little nine-year old girl in the world quite like her. Mitzie imitates the older folks and her latest specialty is Clara Bow, the red-headed "It" star.

Mitzie is cast as Clara's little sister in the "It" girl's latest musical romance, "Love Among the Millionaires," thhe Fox-California theater feature for tomorrow only, and what Mitzi did in "Honey" is nothing to what she does to Clara. And the youngster has a song all her own in "Love Among the Millionaires," called "Don't Be a Meanie."

Mitzi won headline billing over the leading vadueville circuits before entering upon her motion picture career just with her imitations. She has mimicked Charlie Mack of Moran and Mack, Maurice Chevalier and Helen Kane. She's got a new angle on Clara.

ELECTRIC RATE SLASH ASKED IN S. F.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—UP—Quoting the schedule of rates of the Pacific Gas and Electric company, through its subsidiary, the Great Western Power company, in the Modesto Irrigation district, John J. O'Toole, city attorney, appeared before the supervisors' judiciary committee late today to ask permission to apply for a reduction of power rates by the P. G. & E. here.

O'Toole said he wished to make the application before the state rail road commission.

The city attorney declared that the rates in the Modesto Irrigation district, which he described as "an isolated industrial zone", are much lower than here. He declared the irrigation district has a publicly owned distributing system, providing for the private power concern.

"That is the only place where the Pacific Gas and Electric company with the competition of a publicly owned system in serving industries," O'Toole said. "The schedule in effect in that district was put in effect by the railroad commission at the request of the company itself.

"Because the P. G. & E. has no competition in San Francisco the rates are higher here than in the district, which is not right."

ONE KILLED IN ERUPTION OF VOLCANO

MESSINA, Sicily, Sepe. 11.—UP—A violent volcanic eruption on Stromboli and an earthquake on Lipari, islands in the Lipari group north of here, resulted in at least one death today and caused injury to many.

Relief ships were rushed to both islands. A message for help came from Lipari, and a destroyer left at once, carrying firemen and supplies. Two torpedo boats were rushed to Stromboli.

Clouds of ashes and red hot stones spouted from the crater on Stromboli, a volcanic island off the north coast of Sicily, during the eruption today. The disturbance subsided late in the afternoon.

The villages of Stromboli, Ginestra and San Bartolomeo were badly damaged. The stones and lava started fires in many places. Molten lava invaded the San Bartolomeo district, destroying vines and crops.

Stromboli is a volcanic island in the Lipari group, rising 3,000 feet above sea level. The crater, on the northwestern slope of the island, has been active almost continuously for hundreds of years. The island has a population of several thousands.

The Italian penal islands to which political foes of the fascist government often are sent are in the Lipari group.

Liner Hit By Fire; Returns

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 11.—UP—According to a radio report received by the Merchants exchange the McCormick line steamer Peter Helms, which left the Columbia river at 8 p. m. Wednesday for California, put back to the river late today with a fire in her No. 2 hold.

The ship was not in enough danger to send a general call for help the Merchants Exchange said.

Officers and crew battened down No. 2 hatch tightly and turned steam into the hold in an effort to smother the fire which was thought by McCormick officials here to be at least under control.

The hold contains general cargo for San Francisco and Los Angeles.

MOTHER OF U.S. AMBASSADOR DIES

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11.—UP—Mrs. Frank A. Gibson, 7, mother of Hugh Gibson, United States ambassador to Belgium, died here today after a long illness which ended in a cerebral hemorrhage.

Nurses announced last night that it was evident Mrs. Gibson would not survive until her son arrived.

Mrs. Gibson was born in Santa Clara, Calif., in 1855. She came to Los Angeles in 1878 and was married to Frank A. Gibson, a prominent Californian in 1881.

Ambassador Gibson was the only survivor of four children born to the couple. The father died in 1902.

Police Hunt Mad Killer

TRURO, Nova Scotia, Sept. 11—UP—A detachment of troops from Halifax tonight joined with police in one of the greatest man-hunts Nova Scotia has ever known—a search for a maniac who believes he has been appointed by God to kill people in wholesale numbers.

The maniac, Otis Guptil, escaped from the Kings county home for the insane last Monday. His disappearance did not become publicly known until today.

Guptil had been confined to the asylum since last February, when officials said he tried to slaughter a group of school children with a shotgun.

DRY LOSES IN WASHINGTON VOTE

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 11.—UP—Washington was expected to return all but one of her legislators to congress this year as the result of a closely contested primary election in which Republicans of the state chose congressional candidates from five districts.

Ralph A. Horr, Seattle, waged a wet fight, favoring repeal of the Volstead act and prohibition law and was nominated to succeed Representative John F. Miller, dry, in the first district. With all but four precincts reported, Horr's vote totaled 32,400 against Miller's 28,672.

Horr will oppose Charles G. Heifner, wet Democrat, in the November election. Heifner was unopposed in his party in the primary.

Incomplete returns in the second district indicated that Representative Lindley H. Hadley, Bellingham, had defeated his chief opponent, Payson Peterson, Snohomish. With 140 small precincts to be heard from, Hadley's vote totaled 14,128 and Peterson's 13,489.

With 590 of the 673 precincts in the third district reported, Representative Albert Johnson, of Hoquiam, had 32,975 votes to 28,287 votes for John T. McCutcheon, his opponent.

Representative John W. Summers, Walla Walla, was unopposed in the fourth district and T. W. Symons, Jr., Spokane led J. Loyal Adkison, Spokane by 2,174 votes, in the fifth district.

Except for the fight in the first district between Horr and Miller, little interest was shown in the election and the vote was light.

High Pupils Go On Strike

WATERTOWN, Mass. Sept. 11.—UP—Protesting against the addition of one hour to their school day, more than 85 boy students at Watertown high school went on strike today.

The strike started in an orderly manner but was soon beyond control of the school department. Students paraded the downtown streets, shouting "we want shorter hours."

One of the striking students was taken to the Watertown police station after he allegedly had broken a window in the school building. He later was released.

School authorities said the extra time was added to the sessions in an attempt to relieve crowded conditions.

Group Named To Probe Andree Book

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Sept. 11—UP—Two Swedish and two Norwegian authorities on jurisprudence were named today to investigate judical questions concerning the diaries of the ill fated Andree Polar Balloon expedition.

The appointments followed conferences between the Swedish and Norwegian governments.

PRESIDENT OF ARGENTINA IN EXILE

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 11.—UP—The political exile of Dr. Hipolito Irigoyen, deposed president of Argentina, began today when, ill and shaken, the aged statesman sailed almost alone and deserted from La Plata, aboard the the cruiser Belgrano.

His quiet departure apparently solved one of the numerous immediate problems facing the new revolutionary government headed by Gen. Jose Uriburu which seized power from the almost unresting Irigoyen regime. Disposition of the elderly former chief executive without making him a martyr was one of the delicate situations faced by the new cabinet.

Dr. Irigoyen was accompanied by his daughter and his personal physician, Dr. Meabe, both of whom have been with him constantly during and since the successful revolution last Saturday which ejected him and captured Buenos Aires.

The Belgrano sailed in the direction of Montevideo, Uruguay. It was not determined whether Dr. Irigoyen would disembark at Montevideo. Reports were current the cruiser would continue over the Atlantic to Europe. Political exiles at Montevideo, nevertheless, prepared a reception for the former president, dispatches relayed.

Dr. Irigoyen to the moment of leaving Argentine soil maintained his traditional iron-willed stoicism and indifference, on the surface at least, to his fate. Still obviously infirm, he was forced to lean on the arms of his daughter and Dr. Meabe as he walked up the gangplank to the cruiser which carried him away an exile.

Trembling, he stood on the warship's deck. Officers snapped orders and within a few minutes the cruiser stood out to sea.

Only a few chance spectators witnessed the historic incident. The military authorities kept the departure secret, and took every precaution to prevent a demonstration in favor of Irigoyen.

The complete collapse of the Irigoyensista faction in the radical party was seen as a result of Dr. Irigoyen's departure from Argentina. The faction had been the strongest element in the radical party for several years before and since Dr. Irigoyen's election in 1928.

THE WOMAN OF IT

By Marguerite Mooers Marshall

THE WOMAN'S MOVEMENT RATES TWO BIRTHDAY CAKES

I. The Women's Bureau Is Ten Years Old

BIRTHDAYS are not supposed to be remembered too eagerly by our sex, but there are two this year which all American women should greet with pride and satisfaction. One of these anniversaries occurs tomorrow, the tenth birthday of the Woman Suffrage Amendment, of which the proclamation was signed by former Secretary of State Colby on August 26, 1920. But, as we have just been reminded by Mary V. Robinson of the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor, 1930 is also the tenth anniversary of the founding of this most useful and important, this truly intelligent and constructive organization for the protection and promotion of the interests of women who earn.

MARGUERITE MOOERS MARSHALL

How many millions of such women there are in the United States only the new census can tell. Figures ten years old show that one in every five women is a wage-earner and one in every five wage-earners is a woman.

"Women get what they want when they band together to go after it," says Miss Robinson, in a birthday message of congratulation from the Women's Bureau to veteran Woman Suffragists. "As evidence that Uncle Sam himself is not proof against the wills and wants of determined women, witness not only Woman Suffrage but the Federal Women's Bureau."

CONGRESS created the Bureau ten years ago. It has been headed from the beginning by Mary Anderson, herself a worker of lifelong experience. And it has proved itself both a mine of information about the actual conditions of women workers and a zealous advocate for the betterment of these conditions.

Every girl earning $15 a week owes the Women's Bureau a grateful thought, for its services in investigating and publicizing her problems. Every woman of leisure, who at her club learns of these problems from the Women's Bureau, should be grateful for its efforts to educate her in human sympathy and its practical manifestation.

Just what was the need for the Women's Bureau, and what does it accomplish? Here is how Miss Robinson answers these questions:

"The gradual transformation of women's unpaid services within the family circle into paid employment outside the home brought in its train many social and economic problems.

"Long hours, low wages, unsanitary working conditions, monotonous and repetitive occupations, undue strain from wrong posture at work, hazardous processes, lack of opportunity—such made up the industrial morass in which thousands of wage-earning women became engulfed.

"Unorganized, untrained, unskilled in regard to machine labor, barred from occupational progress by prejudice and tradition, women wage-earners were in a weak economic position and in urgent need of a champion.

"TO FORMULATE standards and policies to guarantee wage-earning women a fair and square deal—that is the work of the Women's Bureau. Safeguarding the welfare of workers who are mothers and potential mothers conserves the health of the race and increases the strength of the nation.

"The Women's Bureau is not vested with any powers of law enforcement, though as a government agency it has the weight of authority. It is an impartial, scientific body devoted to fact finding and fact furnishing. Its files and bulletins are full of important information about working women. What it doesn't know it finds out through investigation and research. It studies the problems of women bread-winners as workers, wage-earners, home makers, mothers, daughters, citizens, members of a community—from all angles.

"Today cohorts of interested women, strengthened by and respected for their right to the ballot, serve as a powerful dynamo for sending facts and messages from the Federal Women's Bureau over their national network of progressive organizations and galvanizing into activity forces necessary to effect the desired improvement in the status of wage-earning women."

FROM the old problem of obtaining equal pay for equal work, which began with woman's entrance into the wage-earning world, to the new problems of the home maker as wage-earner and of jobs for the older woman worker—these questions, and how to answer them for the best interests of women, are all part of the business of the Women's Bureau.

An unusually conscientious constructive service of American women for American women is ten years old, and justifiably prides itself that "the progress made in practices affecting women workers during the past decade is noteworthy." But the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor adds, soberly: "There is still a long distance to go before the ideals of the Bureau for women's advancement become a reality."

Manners Along The Way

THE other night a man's voice was heard in the courtyard of a large apartment house yelling, "Put on the soft pedal," and he emphasized his command by language that was far from mild.

The man was justified in being angry at the racket that was depriving him of sleep, but he did not realize that his explosive language and the loud argument he started was quite as disturbing to the residents of the house as was the music, laughing and talking to which he objected. A quiet complaint to the superintendent would have been more effective.

Apartment house residents owe it to one another to be considerate. True, you pay rent and this entitles you to privileges, but the other tenants also pay rent and are entitled to equal privileges. There is, however, no clause in your lease that gives you the privilege of being an annoying factor in that house.

In many apartment houses there are rules governing unnecessary noises after bedtime, but good manners prohibit any noise that will disturb the sleep of your neighbor, so turn down the radio and the Victrola at a reasonable hour (you can still enjoy these by sitting close to the instrument) and show the same consideration that you desire (and expect for the rent you pay) from others.

The first early apples that come into the market bring their own delights to our tables, and if you have been watching the markets carefully you have reveled in fresh apple sauce, apple sauce cakes, quick-cooking German apple kuchen and all the specialties for which these apples are particularly well adapted. Now a sweeter type of apple is just beginning to come into the market, one that is good to eat raw and we should have just as hearty a welcome ready for it. The season opens for apple salads.

KAREN HOLLIS

The great American favorite, of course, is Waldorf salad, a combination of tart apples, crisp celery and walnuts with mayonnaise or boiled dressing. But a girls' school out in the Middle West has varied this recipe, adding dates for the sake of more nourishment, and substituting roasted almonds (salted almonds from which the salt has been rubbed), achieving a delicious combination and providing a hearty salad that is a whole luncheon in itself. Out there this salad is so popular with the students that they ask to have it frequently, and I think that if you try it you will find it equally popular with your family and friends.

DUTCHESS SALAD

2 large apples
1 cup celery diced
½ cup salted almonds
12 dates
Lettuce
1 cup boiled dressing or mayonnaise

Peel and core the apples and cut them in small cubes. Pit the dates, cut them in half and add them with the celery to the apples. Rub the salt from the almonds, add them to the mixture and mix with one-half of the dressing. Arrange in cups of lettuce and add a generous spoonful of dressing to the top. It is best to have all the ingredients for this salad well chilled and mix it just before serving.

Fur and a Suit for Dress

BLOUSE MADE OF TIERS OF SATIN RIBBON.

By Ann Roberts

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

LOUD cries of greeting are heard for the dressier suit—only proving that the instinct for dressing up lives on undaunted in most of us. There's a new sensation in planning the more formal suits and speculating upon adapting them to your own personality.

So many to choose from—so much variety in possible combinations.

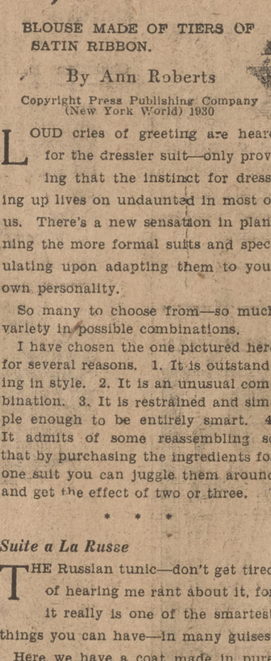
I have chosen the one pictured here for several reasons. 1. It is outstanding in style. 2. It is an unusual combination. 3. It is restrained and simple enough to be entirely smart. 4. It admits of some reassembling so that by purchasing the ingredients for one suit you can juggle them around and get the effect of two or three.

* * *

Suite a La Russe

THE Russian tunic—don't get tired of hearing me rant about it, for it really is one of the smartest things you can have—in many guises.

Here we have a coat made in pure Russian tunic fashion and of fur—broadtail—which even strengthens its Russian character. It is combined with a straight-line skirt made of rough surfaced black cloth and together they make the suit.



BROADTAIL AND BLACK CLOTH MAKE A RUSSIAN BLOUSE SUIT.

Now, fur and lots of it, is the ultimatum for suits this season. Black and brown are the best colors for street wear, and be it said this suit would be quite as attractive in brown, using dark brown caracul or broadtail for the coat.

Gloves for this—black, brown or white suede. I know they are sending fanciness in gloves from Paris, but no matter where they come from or who designs them, they are not good taste and never will be, so don't let yourself fall for them just because they have some prominent name attached.

* * *

New Blouses

TWO blouses for one suit—never was there a more satisfactory sort of fashion. You need not stop at two, but I have indicated those that will do the most for the particular suit in question.

The double breasted one is made from a faille brocade—soft in texture yet with enough body to allow it to be tailored nicely. The dull gold metal threads are woven in to make an all-over moire pattern, so that if you happen to have a brown as well as a black suit, this more formal blouse will go nicely with either of them.

Then there is a little more informal blouse of white, made from three tiers of stiff white satin ribbon, that is mounted on some thin stiffish material with just enough space left between the edges of the ribbon to allow the more transparent stuff to show. This is a lovely, shiny little gem of a blouse, and when you wear it wear white gloves also to help the effect of contrast.

* * *

The Newest Bag

QUITE the smartest shape for a bag is shown in this newly imported model. It is made with antelope with stitched tucks for its only trimming and is mounted on a bar of jade banded with gold that turns back to make an opening.

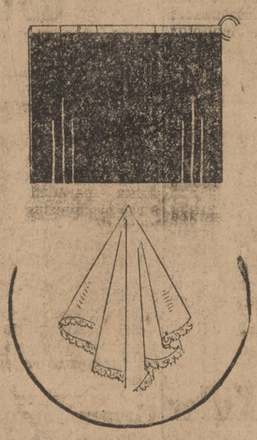
DOUBLE-BREASTED BLOUSE OF METAL FAILLE BROCADE.

If you are carrying this with your black suit and wearing jade beads, you can have shoes with covered heels and trimming of green lizard—but this trick only if you are the proud possessor of lots of pairs of shoes. Otherwise black shoes are best—as for instance those illustrated made of suede and patent leather with one eyelet on either side. And don't forget, when in doubt, that the pump is still an all important feature.

* * *

Fur Hat and Muff

WITH this costume a bicorne of fur just like the fur of the coat makes a very chic little finish—and then the muff also of the same fur (or Persian lamb or caracul) in one of the season's new designs finishes out the detail.



ANTELOPE BAG AND WHITE LINEN HANDKERCHIEF WITH LACE EDGE.

Now the only things needed for a complete finish are the handkerchief—very fine white linen with a real lace border, or one of white chiffon if you prefer.

Stockings—dark in tone, but very, very sheer.

For jewelry the finest string of pearls with the brocade blouse and with the white one possibly jade as suggested before.

Altogether this makes a complete ensemble—exceedingly smart and in the best of taste. It can serve as a pattern for the assembling of other wintry costumes done more or less in the same medium.

BICORNE HAT AND MUFF OF BROADTAIL.

THINK IT OVER

By Alfalfa Smith

THE way to stop worry is to substitute good thoughts for bad ones. There are many people who seem to ENJOY worrying and you would deprive them of their indoor sport should you try to take away their worry.

They never seem to realize that you are your own worst enemy and that you make more trouble for yourself than does any one else.

The day is not far distant when we shall be able to control our thinking.

Worry is useless, don't you think?

More About the Art of Being Tres Femme

REMEMBER we were talking about the importance of being feminine—its importance to beauty and charm? Well, G. L. wants rules! She challenges our statement that a woman needs no rules for being feminine. And we see her point of view precisely. "A woman has either to be a good actress or a poor executive to be soft and fluffy after wrestling all day with a Big Job," writes G. L.

FRANCES OLIVIER

It is obvious that G. L. needs rules! And so help us she shall have them!

But first off this department would like to make a wager with you, G. L., that nine-tenths of your wardrobe—even unto your undies—is tailored; and that only on "occasions" do you dress for dinner. You see, we know dozens of Big Jobs who dine directly on leaving the office, and who sometimes go off to the theatre in business clothes. Smart clothes, to be sure, but not very feminine. Which brings us to—

Rule the first: If you dine out, change to a soft, feminine frock. (And no excuses about being too tired. For there's nothing so restful and refreshing as a change of costume.) If you dine at home, wear frivolous lounging clothes, a wispy tea gown or some handsome pajamas. And just see how you respond to them!...If clothes make the man, how much more do they make the woman — especially fluffy feminine clothes!

Rule the second: Play! Under no circumstances get like the B. J's who come home too tired to do anything—except go to bed! No man with a Big Job forms a habit like that! Play is a form of rest, you know—and a simply tremendous help toward keeping one's self both fit and efficient. Join a gym, go to the swimming pool, go dancing—play!

Rule the third: Indulge your inborn female yen for frivolous underwear now and then, a bottle of expensive perfume, a bath soap that your practical daytime mind regards as sinfully high-priced. A big lady purchasing-agent of our acquaintance confessed to us once that she could never bring herself to buy a bottle of bath salts. "It just seems like throwing so much money down the drain pipe," she whispered shyly.

"Oh, but it's worth it!" we assured her. Whereupon she bolted into a drug store, asked tremblingly for "Some bath salts—jasmine ones"—and has been addicted to them ever since. And now she's much more alluring—one luxury leading to anothers as those things will.

There, G. L., are three priceless rules for you. The keeping of which has made a siren out of full many a girl who didn't think she had it in her!

TELLING THE WORLD

THE NEW MIDGET MENACE

NOW it's the miniature automobile. No sooner was America adjusted to playing eighteen holes of golf on a vacant lot than a British firm introduced a midget automobile on Yankee soil.

The newest model, now popping up everywhere on our boulevards, makes one of Henry Ford's sedans look like a sightseeing bus. With a pre-shrunk wheel base and a condensed width, it not only enables a driver to weave through traffic but to cross-stitch into parking places and to turn around on a manhole cover.

* * *

"We would like to interest you in our new bantam car," said an agent to J. Herman Seidlitz yesterday.

"I am already interested in it," said Mr. Seidlitz. "What makes the darn thing go?"

"It has a baby gasoline motor, the same as any other car."

"How many miles does it give to a gallon of gas?" asked M. Seidlitz.

"It's so economical I never thought to inquire," replied the agent. "All I know is that you pump the gas into"

"How big is the gas tank?" questioned Mr. Seidlitz.

"Eight ounces for first-year cars, the tank with an eye-dropper." But after they're a year old you can drop the 10 o'clock feeding."

* * *

"What good is a car as small as that?" pursued Mr. Seidlitz.

"It has many advantages," stated the agent, going into his song and dance. "For one thing, it can scoot in and out of traffic like a roller skate. And if a traffic cop ever bawls you out for parking in front of a hydrant, you can claim it's only a grasshopper, provided it's one of our green-painted jobs."

"I suppose if you have the orange and black sport job you can claim it's a potato bug," said Mr. Seidlitz. "What other advantages has it?"

"In case you're going across the line to Canada you can smuggle 'em in, they're so small. And, of course, the owner of a bantam car doesn't have to have a garage. A dog kennel will do.

"Ours is the smallest car in America. Why, lots of girls keep one wrapped up in their vanity case so they won't have to walk back from a ride in a big car."

* * *

"How does she lubricate?" inquired Mr. Seidlitz.

"You can drive one of these across the continent on a flask of oil. Or you can use a capsule of castor oil in case you run out of the other kind."

"What else is in its favor?"

"Well," continued the agent, "any jewler can fix you up with spare parts. The tires can be blown up with an ear syringe."

"Has it any disadvantages?" asked Mr. Seidlitz.

"Only one," admitted the agent. "It's so small that last week an owner had his picked right up out of the gutter by a chap who thought it was a watch charm."

THIS AND THAT

There's one thing about the Duke of York's baby. He can't name it Junior.

The cigaret war is over and now we start paying for it at the rate of a half cent a pack.

The Brooklyn Robins have been chiseled out of the pennant, but they're in a good position to go after the tree-sitting championship. They've been out on a limb for two weeks.

Now that the racketeers have raised the price of milk, why don't they go after teething rings?

It looks like Aimee McPherson has gone and beaten Tommy Lipton to it at lifting the mug.

If Mamma Kennedy had had her face lifted before the row, she'd only have got socked on the chin instead of the nose.

Begins to look like Aimee's "Four-Square" Gospel was modeled after a boxing ring.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."
Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

SCHOOL CLUB TO VISIT U. C. SOON

An interesting and varied schedule has been outlined for the fall semester by the faculty adviser and officers of the Richmond Union high school Physiology club.

On Oct. 16, the club plans to visit the Life Science building at the University of California in Berkeley. A second trip to some east-bay institution will be held later in the term.

SLASH SEEN IN WATER TAX RATE

A consistent lowering of tax rate for water can be looked for year by year unless some unforseen contingency arises, the public was informed in the current monthly letter by Dr. George C. Pardee, president of the East Bay Municipal Utility District. Pardee pointed out that the fifty cent tax rate which was in effect last year helped the district to rush in the Mokelumne water in June of 1929 when the local reservoirs were practically depleted thereby saving the nine cities of the east bay from a disastrous water famine, which would have caused untold monentary losses.

"This year the district tax rate has been reduced eight cents from 50 cents to 42 cents, a sixteen percent reduction," said Dr. Pardee. "Next year, unless something entirely unforseen happens, the tax rate will again be lowered; and so on, year by year, until the income of the district gets large enough to pay its expenses; and then there will be no more taxes, and water rates can be reduced."

Dr. Pardee pointed out that the Utility District voted $65,000,000 in bonds, $39,000,000 for the Mokelumne and $26,000,000 for the purchase of the local distribution system. He said that the East Bay Water company which operated the local plant on water collections alone did not have ,as an investment, a mountain dam, or ninety miles of pipe line to take care of, and that their water supply was extremely low. The East Bay Municipal Utility District, said Dr. Pardee, is now the only one of the three largest communities in this state that is not facing a water shortage, if not a water famine.

Easy to look at

THERE'S always some favored one with a charm that's all her own. . . . And everywhere in the modern scene you'll see happy smokers breaking out fresh, fragrant packs of Camels . . . a natural choice too!

For the mildness of Camels is a charm that's all its own . . . a natural mildness that's a quality of choicest tobaccos. Don't confuse this fresh, fragrant mildness with the flatness or insipidness of "over-treated" tobacco. There's a delightful natural fragrance to Camels, too, a "bouquet" as distinctive as the fragrance of oriental flowers.

Here's to the delightful things of life! Have a Camel!
